Foxburg / Richland Township Directories, 1872-1929

1. 1872-73 J. M. Arters

Copies of the Foxburg & St. Petersburg sections.

2. 1873 J. Wiggins & Co.

3. 1876-77 J. F. Diffenbacher & Co.

Copies of the Foxburg sections.

4. 1877-78 J. F. Diffenbacher & Co.

Copies of the Foxburg & St. Petersburg sections.

5. 1877 J. A. Caldwell (from the Clarion County Atlas)

Copy of the Foxburg section.

6. 1887

7. 1892

8. 1904

9. 1909

10. 1929

Copies of the Richland Township sections of each.

Unfortunately I don't have exact bibliographical references for most of the directories. It may be of some help then to note where these were obtained from. Directory 1 is from a copy at the Oil City Library, while 2 and 3 are from the collection of the Drake Well Museum at Titusville. Directory 4 is from the State Library at Harrisburg. Directories 6 – 9 are from the collection of the Clarion County Historical Society. Directory 10 is from the Clarion Public Library.

FOXBURG DIRECTORY.

1876-7.

Foxburg is situated on the line of the A. V. R. R., 85 miles above Pittsburgh, near the junction of the Allegheny and Clarion rivers. It is the outlet of the Clarion oil district. From here the greater part of the oil produced in the district is shipped through the various pipe lines. A fine bridge spans the Allegheny at this point.

To travelers wishing to view the oil region with but little delay, this place offers superior facilities. In the immediate neighborhood of the town are wells in full operation. Here are the large storage and shipping tanks of the Union and Atlantic Pipe Companies, the tracks from which the tank cars on the railroad are filled, and for fifteen miles back in the country the roadside and fields are lined and dotted with rigs and wells, from the inception of rig building to the solid old punper that for four or five years has continued to yield night and day its wealth from the bowels of the earth.

On leaving the cars here the foreign visitor will no doubt be astonished to hear the hack drivers call out—"All aboard for St. Petersburg, Antwerp and Turkey!" More familiar to our friends of the Pacific Slope will be such names as Triangle, Dogtown, Pickwick, &c. These are the towns of sudden growth that mark the course of the Oil Belt. Population about 600.
